Remarkable Hummingbirds

Fear ye not therefore,
ye are of more value than many sparrows.
(Matthew 10:31)

One of the delights of living in the Pacific Northwest of the United States is being able to watch the hummingbirds. As soon as we saw these remarkable little birds for ourselves, my wife and I knew we had to attract them to our yard. So we invested in feeders and kept them topped up with sugar solution through the summer months. Two species seemed to predominate in our garden – the orange-bellied Rufous and the beautiful, iridescent green Anna's hummingbird.

Of course, nothing previously seen on the TV screen could prepare me for the delight of watching the little creatures fly backwards as they finished feeding. They rarely landed, so we had no view of their wings, which move so fast that they are just a blur.

Normally, when a bird's wings upstroke, this is simply to get the wings back in position for another downstroke. Hummingbirds are different. Both strokes have power. The amazing way in which hummingbirds beat their wings uses a huge amount of energy for such a tiny bird. In fact, it has been estimated that hummingbirds need an energy input, which, if scaled up to human dimensions, would be the equivalent of us eating 1,300 hamburgers a day! So much energy would be produced that we would actually catch fire!

The bulk of the paving job will be in the NW corner of the back parking lot where they will be regrading and paving to slope to the catch-basin. They will also be fixing a few spots out by the road, so be careful when you are coming to church. It will be nice to have the back parking lot fixed before the snow flies!

September's Prayer letter:

On August 4th, we had the veteran missionaries Terry and Jane Carruthers (to Brazil). They were a blessing to our congregation, challenging us to world missions and the mission right here at home which is our responsibility. They connected really well with our church. It was great to renew our vision.

Here are some prayer requests:

- (1) Michel Caron's health,
- (2) Milad's and his family's salvation,
- (3) our outreach with our distribution ministry
- (4) for our safe travels in October to the Maritimes.

Thank you for investing for Eternity through us!

“I Know I Am Saved” by Bud Lyles (1965)

I know I am saved, For Christ set me free,
 He ransomed my poor soul On the cross of Calvary.
 And now I can sing, For Christ is my king,
 I'll see His face in Glory Bye and bye.

 be the candle or the mirror that reflects it.

A Quick Note from Stephanie (deSouza) & Christoph
 We have really been blessed by the Church in Enzweihingen. They are open to one day being our sending church and are a great encouragement as we look towards full-time missionary work. Christoph has joined the worship team and I have joined the choir and also help out at the weekly Girls' Club.
 I can't believe how fast time has flown! A new country, new language, new marital status... it all blows me away!

Please pray for:

- Job/volunteer position for Stéphanie
- Christoph's last name change in Germany
- Our marriage to be “fully” recognized in Germany
- Our marriage to be recognized in Brazil

Barrels for the Littles in St. Lucia

A shopping list has been printed for you; they are by the bulletin board. Jan says the cut off date is Oct. 31.
 Also, a note regarding almond milk - if you get the cartons at Costco look for the longest shelf life date. It doesn't need to be refrigerated. (I didn't know that!) If you can't get out shopping, but would still like to help, you could give towards the cost of shipping and clearing the barrels. Thank you for thinking of Greg , Amanda, and the kids .

Time Change: put a big red X on your calendar on Nov. 3. That's the day you get an extra hour's sleep. Set your clocks BACK an hour on Saturday night or you'll get here Sunday before the doors are unlocked.

Just For Fun

- If Facebook has taught me anything, it's that a lot of you are not quite ready for a spelling bee.
- The word “queue” is just a Q followed by four useless letters.
- I am forever disappointed that a group of squids is not called a squad.
- You call it eating five boxes of Girl Scout cookies alone. I call it supporting young female entrepreneurs.
- Money can't buy happiness but it can buy cows and cows make milk and milk makes ice cream and ice cream makes you happy.
- I've been on a diet for two weeks and I've lost 14 days of happiness.
