The Amazing Platypus

And God said, Let the earth bring forth the living creature after his kind, cattle, and creeping thing, and beast of the earth after his kind: and it was so.
(Genesis 1:24)

Australia has more than its fair share of unusual animals. Probably the most unusual of all is the platypus. Indeed, when scientists in Britain were first shown platypus skins in 1799, they believed it to be a fake, having been made of several animal parts sewn together!

Of course, it is a genuine species, but even so, it contains some parts that are not usually expected together. It has a bill like a duck (hence its popular name, the duck-billed platypus), its body is furry like a mammal, but it can deliver a reptilian-like venom. And, famously, it lays eggs like a bird.

The eggs are more like those of a bird than a reptile. Reptile eggs have a larger yolk than birds, but the platypus egg yolk is small and does not contain as much nutrition as that of a reptile. The reason for this seems clear. Baby platypuses are nourished by their mother with milk.

The platypus is classed as a mammal but is classified into a separate group of mammals, called monotremes. The other creature in this group is the echidna, which looks and behaves nothing like the platypus, apart from the fact that it lays eggs. Evolutionists believe that this group of mammals is left over from the early evolution of mammals from reptiles. In fact, the platypus appears to be uniquely designed by God, filling a niche in the ecology of Australia that belongs to no other creature.

FYI Update... B&R Paving have revised their schedule and will be in this Thursday and Friday to do the work on our parking lot. The bulk of the paving job will be in the NW corner of the back parking lot where they will be regrading and paving to slope to the catch basin. They will also be fixing a few spots out by the road, so be careful if you're coming to the church. It will be nice to have the back parking lot fixed before the snow flies!

I had a minor surgery on my eyes; lasers were used to reopen channels that were blocked. Praise the Lord I'm doing much better. David and Melody are expecting their fifth baby in January. And Marie-Eve had a baby boy named Ezekiel, which give us nine grandchildren!

Here are some prayer requests:

- (1) Michel Caron's health,
- (2) Milad's and his family's salvation,
- (3) our outreach with our distribution ministry
- (4) for our safe travels in October to the Maritimes.

Thank you for investing for Eternity through us!

In the Harvest together,

Jacques & Ginette Brind'Amour

“I Know I Am Saved” by Bud Lyles (1965)

I know I am saved, For Christ set me free,
 He ransomed my poor soul On the cross of Calvary.
 And now I can sing, For Christ is my king,
 I'll see His face in Glory Bye and bye.

Barrels for the Littles in St. Lucia

A shopping list has been printed for you; they are by the bulletin board. Jan says the cut off date is Oct. 31. Also, a note regarding almond milk - if you get the cartons at Costco look for the longest shelf life date. It doesn't need to be refrigerated. (I didn't know that!) If you can't get out shopping, but would still like to help, you could give towards the cost of shipping and clearing the barrels. Thank you for thinking of Greg, Amanda, and the kids .

Just For Fun

- The month of October is just a vicious circle of buying a bag of candy for Halloween and then buying another bag because you ate the first one yourself.
- Raise your hand if you try to breathe quieter while walking up a hill so bystanders don't hear you fighting for your life.
- What do you get if you divide the circumference of a pumpkin by its diameter? Pumpkin pi. Sorry. I'll see myself out.
